CedarMania and Youth Leaders Summit Inspire Students and Youth Leaders

CEDARVILLE, OHIO -- Cedarville University will host the 17th annual CedarMania event on March 21, 2020, for middle school and high school students. This high-energy event will feature plenty of fun activities, music, and small-group activities.

This year's theme is "Give Me an Answer," with the goal of helping students answer questions about their Christian faith and how it relates to cultural issues. Dr. Dan Dewit, director of Cedarville's Center for Biblical Apologetics and Public Christianity, is the keynote speaker, and the university's HeartSong music team will lead worship.

In conjunction with CedarMania, Cedarville will also host the Youth Leaders Summit. "Youth Leaders are in the trenches and it is often a thankless job," said Loren Kuhn, event coordinator. "We wanted to provide insight, experiences, encouragement, and resources so that they might leave feeling refreshed, loved and equipped to do the work of the ministry."

Throughout the day, youth leaders will attend workshops to learn different leadership skills related to the theme of the event.
